Emotion-Friendly Teaching

$349 • WS #29065

Dr. Spencer Kagan has just completed his newest book: Emotion-Friendly Teaching. In this high intensity workshop, Dr. Kagan leads you through the two sides of emotion-friendly teaching: 1) Eliciting the ten positive emotions, and 2) Teaching students to know and manage their emotions. You receive the powerful Kagan Emotion Wheel that allows students to locate themselves and move in emotional space. You will use the emotion wheel to foster the four dimensions of emotional intelligence: Self-Knowledge, Self-Control, Self-Motivation, and Empathy. Using the emotion wheel, students are empowered. They are no longer controlled by their emotions; they know their emotions and know how to move to more positive states. By the way, understanding the emotion wheel empowers teachers to better know their students, their significant others, and themselves!

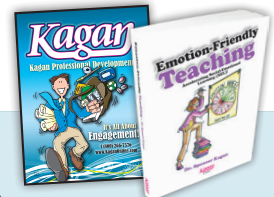

- Radically reduce disruptive behavior, bullying, and violence
- Promote relationship skills and empathy for others
- Learn how to leverage emotions to increase student self-motivation and achievement
- Improve class climate and raise students' IQ by eliciting positive emotions
- Teach students to understand and manage their emotions with the Kagan Emotion Wheel

“Such a great training! I wish I would’ve done this sooner. This should be a mandatory training for all teachers in their credential programs going into teaching. It’s that beneficial!”

—Emerald Potesan, 6th Grade Teacher
