

Digital Academy

SEPTEMBER 11, 2020

attendance

Students must log into Canvas and participate in a live lesson each class period each day. When logging into Zoom, the camera must be on and the student must interact with the teacher in order to be counted as present.

Teachers will spend the first part of class providing instruction for all students. The students will have independent time to complete activities, and the digital students may be asked to return to class later in the period.

Students who log in but turn off the camera and do not participate in class will be considered skipping. Parent contact will be made and the progressive discipline plan followed.

success tips

Fully participate in class.

Ask questions, participate in discussions, and work with your peers. Teachers like interaction and reactions - it helps them make sure students understand the material.

Pay attention to the To-Do List

The To-Do list will have all the assignments students need to complete. Make sure to check that daily for tasks that are due today or are coming up.

Stay on schedule

Keep the same schedule as the brick & mortar students. Work on assignments in between live lessons - and don't wait until later to get it done.

academic integrity

Students and parents will be asked to verify honesty and integrity on assessments.

Teachers may ask students to complete discussion-based assessments to verify content knowledge. In addition, additional procedures may be used for secure testing.

Parents are encouraged to talk about academic integrity with their student as we move through the semester.
