Smith-Williams Service. Ctr.

I understand that as a Privileged User, I must:

- Respect the privacy of others.
- Stay on topic. All posts should be related to Dating Matters planning and implementation.
- Engage in positive, constructive discussion that is respectful of other users.

I understand that as a Privileged User, I must not:

- Disclose personal information in my username or comments.
- Use my account for solicitations or personal business.
- Use the Dating Matters or CDC logos, or any other logo owned by CDC, in any way, including on any materials or Team Up! posts, without the express written permission of CDC.
- Imply CDC endorsement of any non-CDC product, policy, service, or enterprise.
- Publicly share posts or screenshots of content or conversations within Team Up!
- Sell, modify, distribute, or post online any Dating Matters program materials without the express written permission of CDC.
- Post comments that violate CDC's Guidelines for Public Comments, including:
 - hate speech
 - profanity, obscenity or vulgarity
 - defamation to a person, people, or organization
 - name calling and/or personal attacks
 - statements for or against a specific bill, law, or candidate for political office
 - spam comments, such as the same comment posted repeatedly on a profile
 - comments whose main purpose are to sell a product
 - inappropriate or unrelated links
 - comments that infringe on copyrights
 - other comments that the CDC deems inappropriate

Violations of the Rules of Behavior may result in immediate revocation of user privileges. CDC staff will monitor the site regularly to moderate content and ensure that privacy rules are followed according to HHS and CDC guidelines. CDC retains discretion to determine which content violates CDC policy, and reserves the right to remove and/or not allow content to get posted. The views expressed within posted comments do not necessarily reflect those of CDC or the federal government. Links to these guidelines are also available on the Slack channel. Please note that official CDC information can be found at CDC.gov and in the case of any discrepancies the content on CDC.gov should be considered correct.

By signing and submitting this electronic form, I agree to comply with these terms of use.
